About

Rachel Catherine

Rachel Catherine is a professionally trained photographer and former photojournalist who has been published in newspapers, marketing materials and on Web sites. She started learning photography in high school when she was just 15-years-old and originally studied film photography, developing her own film and photos in a darkroom.

Now, Rachel is dedicated to capturing real moments today to create memories forever tomorrow. She photographs weddings, children, families and portraits, and prefers to capture people in poses that feel natural for them. She is devoted to getting to know her clients so the pictures will reflect their personality and style. In doing this, Rachel hopes that the pictures she takes are as unique as each child, pet, family or wedding.

In her personal life, Rachel can relate to the joy (and stress) of planning a wedding, as she was recently married. Her amazing husband and two crazy dogs are the loves of her life, and in her off time enjoys being curled up on the couch – with all of them.

Tonia and Seth's Engagement

Tonia, Seth and I braved the one day we had the biggest snow of the year here for their engagement pictures. They wanted a contrast from their fall wedding and they got it! And I got to photograph ...
